

FATHERLESS TO FATHERLESS

Millionaire Keeps Faith After Second Opportunity.

Washington Herald.

As provider for 150 widows and father to 300 orphans, Charles Page, of Tulsa, Okla., is realizing here the dream of a life that matches fiction—a life with a moral woven in.

The story of his rise from nothing to millions is really the story of a vow made in boyhood, broken in youth and fulfilled in maturity. It is the story of success and failure alternating.

Charles Page's father died when the boy was 10, and most of the family's property went to pay the doctor bill.

As the lad struggled for a living in a little Wisconsin village he promised himself that once he attained wealth he would help others in the circumstances he suffered then.

Made a Fortune.

After years of adversity he made his way to the Northwest and took up the lumber business.

"One morning I awakened and realized I was no longer poor," he said, "I knew I had reached the point at which I had promised myself I would start helping others. And I knew I was not doing it."

The vow forgotten Charles Page went ahead making money. A few months passed and a deal turned wrong. He went "broke." He looked upon the wreckage of his fortune, and once more vowed he would help others if he were able—again.

His second success came after he had been through the Cripple Creek gold rush and had come to Oklahoma and the oil fields.

Builds Orphans' Home.

On the present site of Sand Springs, seven miles from here, he had a tent pitched. He sent a family of several orphaned children there and hired a man to care for them. From that time on the Sand Springs Orphan's Home has grown.

The Page foundation is not an "asylum." It is truly a home. Children taken there consider it such. Some of them marry from it. Boys are given a start in business. Scores find the work they prefer in the various Page enterprises.

A number of widows with families have been given cottages and are provided with food, clothing and fuel.

RICH AMERICANS VISITING PARIS USELESS WASTERS

Paris, Sept. 12.—"Olive Thomas certainly believed she was acting for a film on the fateful morning she mistakenly partook of the poison for a sleeping potion."

While the body of the beautiful American movie star rests in the Paris morgue for tomorrow's autopsy which the judicial authorities ordered yesterday in order to ascertain exactly under what circumstances she swallowed mercurial tablets, all Paris continues to discuss the untimely death of Jack Pickford's wife and the above statement was made by Princess Avaresco, cousin of the king of Rumania, in an exclusive interview with Universal Service. The princess is the famous authority on feminine psychology. She also is a historian and was an official lecturer on "contemporary history" with the American troop in the war.

Cannot View Remains

Meanwhile no one was allowed to view or touch the remains of the beautiful movie star with the exception of sworn doctors and poison experts.

"The case of Olive Thomas," said Princess Avaresco, "is the most interesting of its kind in many years. After a careful study of the known circumstances, I do not hesitate to state my belief that, under the hyper-excitement incident to a night's sojourn amidst Parisian dancing scenes, Olive entirely lost her sense of reality on that fatal morning."

"The barrier between her real personality and her theatrical one had completely disappeared. She certainly believed she was acting for a film."

"It was only the unbearable burning or the poisoning drug which startled her back to real life and caused her to call for help."

"Generally speaking," said the princess who has a wide acquaintance among Americans, "I am vastly disappointed in the Americans visiting Paris since the war. The ordinary doughboy, whose life I shared for months, unquestionably was vastly superior to the present crowd of sightseers."

Rich Americans Useless Wasters

"The American fighting man was a clean, upright boy. Even the least educated among them had ideals, while the great majority of the present rich American visitors are useless wasters, eager only to indulge in the sights and sensations which gold can buy in Paris while they disregard the beautiful side of the French capital."

"The atmosphere of Paris today is deteriorated by American pleasure seekers and is decidedly dangerous for American girls."

"Paris undoubtedly is a great danger to young and inexperienced girls who have not developed their will power," said Gertrude Dingman, director of the work of the Young Women's Christian Association in France.

"Many American girls," she added are lured by the reputed glamor of Parisian pleasure resorts. They love their natural restraint and moral stamina upon arriving here."

Prohibition in the United States was blamed for the unrestrained actions of Americans in Paris by Cortland Bishop, former president of the Aero club of America and one of the best known Americans in Paris.

"A dry America," he said, "is responsible for the orgies of certain Americans in Paris. Unable to obtain champagne openly in America they indulge violently as soon as they leave American ports."

"If prohibition continues in the United States I predict that twenty-five per cent of the Americans visiting Europe will be physical wrecks ere a month's stay."

Taking Lawyer's Advice.

A man in a western town was hurt in a railroad accident, and after being confined to his home for several weeks he appeared on the streets walking with the aid of crutches.

"Hello, old fellow," greeted an acquaintance, rushing up to shake his hand. "I am certainly glad to see you around again."

"Thanks," responded the injured one. "I am glad to be around again."

"I see you are hanging fast to your crutches," observed the acquaintance. "Can't you do without them?"

"My doctor says I can," answered the injured party, "but my lawyer says I can't."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Come on, boys,

Let's go to

Phil Dew's Market

Where we always get the best in every ounce we buy.

We are now going to offer you some of the finest steers ever raised in Dillon county—the product of P. A. George's Farm. We are not the cheapest people in Latta, because we handle the very best meat that can be bought. We can only promise to meet you there every Saturday, as our other business does not permit us to stay there all the time. All bookkeeping discontinued, as we are not a very good bookkeeper ourselves. We might have a little bookkeeper somewhere, but we can't tell just where right now. We want to thank you for the kindness shown us in the past and promise you that we will endeavor to make our business more attractive than ever before. Be sure to look for the Dew Market before buying your beef.

THE "OLD RELIABLE"

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

White Haired Alabama Lady Says She Has Seen Medicines Come and Go But The "Old Reliable" Thedford's Black-Draught Came and Stayed.

Dutton, Ala.—In recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said: "I am getting up in years; my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work."

"Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know for I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, uncomfortable feeling after meals. Sour stomach and sick headache can be relieved by taking Black-Draught. It aids digestion, also assists the liver in throwing off impurities. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, and do, to my friends and neighbors."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a standard household remedy with a record of over seventy years of successful use. Every one occasionally needs something to help cleanse the system of impurities.

Try Black-Draught. Insist upon Thedford's, the genuine.

At all druggists.

Made by BEHRNS DRUG CO., Waco, Texas

Motor Oil unqualified to withstand the MAXIMUM heat of the rapidly operating motor, which sometimes flares up around 2000° F., is no oil for you to use. It's the breaking down of oil, under intense and continued heat, that plays "Sam Hill" with the operating intricacies of your motor and leaves it to the mercy of its deadly enemy, FRICTION!

"GREEN FLAG" Motor Oil positively withstands heat, keeps an unbroken "film seal" of lubrication, protecting every rapidly-working part of the motor, keeping your engine cool, smooth running, powerful, and full of "pop." Here in the Southland we have but small fear for the inscriptions of zero weather; yet, as cold as it may get, "GREEN FLAG" does not congeal or "gum up," and insures the continued active flow of the oil.
